

Strategy WORKSHOP

THE EFFECTIVE
STATISTICIAN

12-14
December
10am - 3pm CET

Would you like to develop a clear professional vision for yourself or your company/department/group?

Do you want to understand what has prevented you from achieving it so far?

Do you want to drive innovation and change and develop a strategy to achieve it?

Then you are not alone in the community with other statisticians, data scientists, and programmers.

Join our three-day strategy workshop to develop your personal and business growth strategy with like-minded people.

Mirjam and Alexander will help you find your personal drivers and ambitions.

These will help you to develop a professional vision that motivates and inspires you every day.

Together, we will develop a strategy on how you will effectively achieve this vision.

This strategy will provide clear guidelines for decision-making and help you focus your energy and the energy of your employees and suppliers.

This will give you clarity about the Why, the How, and the What of your actions.

At the end of the workshop, you will have a clear and detailed plan you can implement.

Who is the workshop suitable for?

- Statisticians, data scientists, programmers and other quantitative scientists in pharma and healthcare

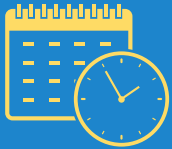

- Passionate professionals who want to bring about positive change

- Participants from Pharma, CRO, and Academia
